Are some people more at risk than other of becoming drug addicts? Learn which factors influence addiction and how you can avoid developing the disease....

I am a 36 yo female that is addicted to Tramadol. I sometimes take about 10 50mg pills per day. I started taking Tramadol because of constant stiff neck and pain. I have a bulging disc in my neck as I have been told by my doctor. I cant go without the pills or the pain in my neck comes back. My husband believes I am addicted and is upset with me. I tell him that if I stop taking them, the pain will return just as bad. He seems to think that I am making all of this up. I am hypothyroid also. So, sometimes I have problems with my thyoid level going up on me. That makes things even worse. More body pain and crying spells. I probably could cut down on my intake of tramadol but never just get off of them. I cant live in pain!

I can so relate! I was given Tramadol for R.A. & Fibro. I was told it was safer then Hydrocodone (which I took 1/2 to one a day) They had me taking 200 mgs. a day. I started to realize it was effeting my life I stoped CT and threw them out. After three months my head still would spin if I turned it from side to side.
